I would like to suggest the following additional resources for the list...

- Military Child Education Coalition:
<http://www.militarychild.org/>
- Reintegration, National Center for PTSD:
Returning from war:
<http://www.ptsd.va.gov/public/reintegration/guides-rwz.asp>
- National Military Family Association:
<http://www.militaryfamily.org/>
- VA Veterans and Military Families:
<http://www.va.gov/opa/militaryfamilies.asp>
- Military Family Research Institute:
<https://www.mfri.purdue.edu/>

After reviewing each of these resources, I plan to share the following resources with my colleagues and/or organization...

NCTSN Military Families Learning Community
– Good site for podcasts that consumer can easily access.

Military Kids Connect- Wonderful opportunity for kids to share their experiences and use one another as a resource. (I could have used this growing up as a military dependent in relative isolation. There is a wealth of untapped resource among kids as peers.)

Military OneSource - Good one stop shop for a range of resources. I also appreciate the inclusion of relationships, stress and grief.

The logo is circular with a blue border. Inside, there are three white stars at the top, a red silhouette of a family (two adults and a child) in the center, and three white wavy lines at the bottom. The text "Military Community & Family Policy" is written in yellow around the inner edge of the circle.

Providing Support to Military Families

Learning Objectives

- Recognize the strengths and needs of military families.
- Understand the role and function of family support programs in assisting service members and their families.
- Identify key military programs that support military families.

Military Families

Military Demographics

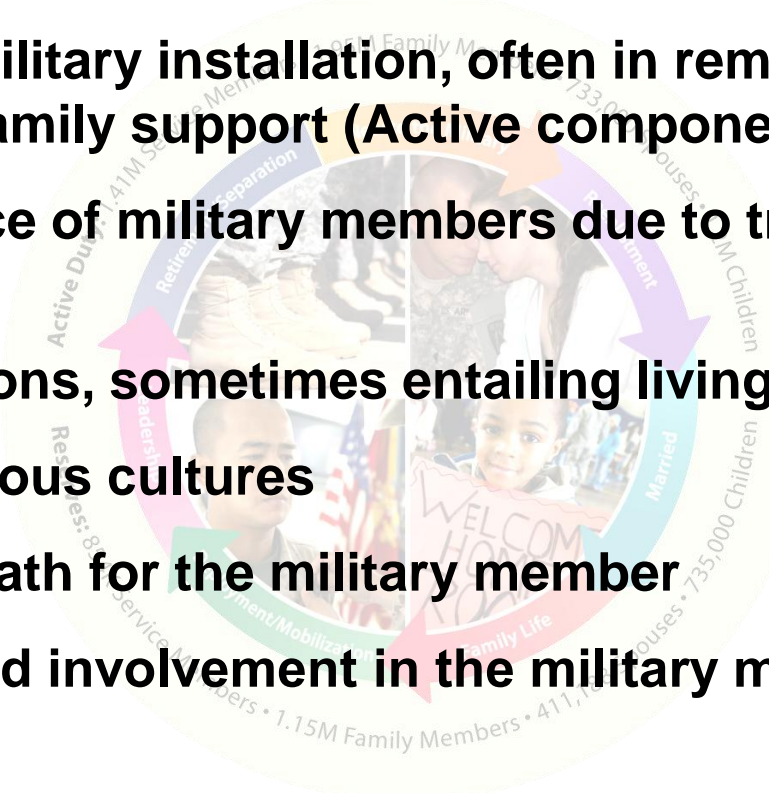

Source: 2011 Demographics Report: Profile of the Military Community

- Active duty: 1.41M service members/1.98M family members (1.25M children)
- Reserves: 855,867 service members/1.16M family members (743,736 children)
- 66% of the active duty force and 52% of the Reserves are 30 years of age or younger
- 56.6% of the active duty force are married; 48% of Reserve personnel are married
- Active duty: 1.25M dependent children; 42.6% are 5 years old or younger
- Reserves: 743,736 dependent children; 29% are 5 years old or younger

What makes military families different from non-military families?

- Demographics such as ages of parents and children, a large single population (many of whom have children), cultural diversity
- Live on/near a military installation, often in remote locations, away from extended family support (Active component)
- Frequent absence of military members due to training and deployments
- Multiple relocations, sometimes entailing living separately
- Exposure to various cultures
- Risk of injury/death for the military member
- Military command involvement in the military member's personal and family life
- Irregular hours/unpredictable schedules
